

END USER LICENCE FOR EMODNET GEOLOGY MATERIAL, SEABED SUBSTRATE

EU MARE/2012/10: LOT NO.2-GEOLOGY EMODNET = EUROPEAN MARINE OBSERVATION AND DATA NETWORK

TERMS OF USE FOR PRODUCTS AND MATERIALS THAT INCLUDE A RIGHT TO RE- USE AND MODIFY THE MATERIAL FREELY

General information

The products and materials are produced, and their copyright, database protection and other immaterial rights are owned by European Community represented by the European Commission. The holders of the intellectual property rights (IPR) to the data, which existed prior to the Contract being entered into, are the EMODnet Geology partners.

User refers to a natural or legal person who makes use or distribution of the material covered by this licence and a service related to the material.

The user accepts the terms of this license by receiving the material or using the service.

Allowed use

The EMODnet Geology material available for download from the EMODnet Geology portal free of charge, without any restrictions other than mentioned in this licence, for any legitimate use, including public, private and commercial use.

Duties and responsibilities of the user

When using and/or distributing the material, the original source and the revision year of the material must be mentioned in the service that uses the material or a part of it:

- Seabed substrate 1:250 000 – Europe © EMODnet Geology, European Commission, 2016

or mention about modification of the material:

- Seabed substrate 1:250 000 – Europe, modified data © EMODnet Geology, European Commission, 2016
- Seabed substrate 1:1 000 000 – Europe © EMODnet Geology, European Commission, 2016

or mention about modification of the material:

- Seabed substrate 1: 1 000 000 – Europe, modified data © EMODnet Geology, European Commission, 2016

The above mentioned datasets include also data from external source and the use of this external data has been authorised by the data provider:

- VLIZ (2014). Maritime Boundaries Geodatabase, version 8. Available online at <http://www.marineregions.org/>.
- VLIZ (2014) EMODnet regions, version 1.

The adjacent responsibilities of the user:

- Mention the time when the user acquired the material from the service,
- Provide a copy of this licence or a link to it,
- The material must be marked as either a) presented as is or b) modified,
- Require that third parties follow the terms and conditions of this licence when granting licences for a product or service that uses the material or a part of it, and
- Remove references to the source if required to do so by the owner (European Commission) or the holders of IPR (EMODnet Geology partners).

Jurisdiction

EMODnet Geology ensures that EMODnet Geology has the right to grant the licence.

This licence does not create a cooperation or business relationship between the user and European Commission, EMODnet Geology and/or Geological Survey of Finland (GTK, provides interface service). The terms of this licence do not allow the user to state in conjunction with the use of material that European Commission, EMODnet Geology and/or GTK would support or recommend such use.

It is the user's responsibility to follow these terms of use and the user's obligation to protect the material from use that violates these terms. If these terms are neglected or violated, European Commission, EMODnet Geology and/or GTK is entitled to receive compensation for damages.

Liability

Use of any data, information, or service supplied is at the user's own risk.

The EMODnet-Geology partners (the IPR holders) give no warranty, condition or representation as to the quality, accuracy or completeness of the data, information, or service, or its suitability for any use or purpose. All implied conditions relating to the quality or suitability of the information, and all liabilities arising from the supply of the information (including any liability arising in negligence) are excluded to the fullest extent permitted by law.

Contact information of the material's holder geodata@gtk.fi