

diameter ~ 8.6 nm

This is a grayscale electron micrograph showing a bright, roughly circular particle against a dark background. A dashed white line is drawn across the particle to indicate its diameter. The particle has a bright, dense core and a more diffuse, cloud-like outer region. The background is dark with some faint, scattered light.

20 nm

A horizontal white scale bar is located below the '20 nm' text.